LAST ACTION ON REPEAL MAY NOT COME TILL EVE

Utah Convention Is Not Expected To Vote Until After 8

BULLETIN

Salt Lake City, Dec. 5—(AP)—A sudden switch in the program of the Utah repeal convention decided upon by the delegates shortly after 2 P. M. (CST) today provided for action within an hour on ratification of the 21st Amendment.

BULLETIN

Columbus, O., Dec. 5—(AP)—Ohio today ratified repeal of the 18th amendment, becoming the 35th state to approve return of legal liquor. The vote of the 52 repeal convention delegates was unanimous, but in spite of it the state remained legally "dry." Repeal of Ohio's constitutional prohibition amendment will not be effective until next Thursday, and even then it will be necessary for the legislature to repeal two enforcement acts and enact control laws before liquor may flow again.

BULLETIN

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 5—(AP)—Pennsylvania, once famed for the liquors it made, quietly ratified repeal of prohibition at 12:50 P. M. CST today.

Fifteen delegates three of them women, elected Nov. 7, stood in the brilliant hall of the Senate and cast the official votes which made Pennsylvania the 34th state to approve over-throw of the 18th Amendment.

UTAH CONVENTION

Salt Lake City, Dec. 5—(AP)—The delegates to Utah's prohibition convention gathered in the Capitol here today to vote the state's ratification of the 21st Amendment. Final action was postponed until this evening, which was expected to insure that Utah's action would be the 36th, which makes repeal effective.

Meeting in executive caucus before the hour for opening of the convention at 1 P. M. CST, the delegates chose Ray M. Olson of Ogden as president of the convention and agreed upon a program providing for a recess as soon as organization formalities have been completed until 7:45 o'clock this evening.

The final vote is expected between 8 and 8:30 P. M.

To Broadcast Vote

Mr. Olson announced that the postponement until evening was "for the purpose of using the facilities of the Columbia Broadcasting System and for that reason alone."

The afternoon session, called to order by Gov. Henry H. Blood, included, besides election of convention officers, appointment of committees and consideration of formal motions, an address by the Governor and one by Anthony W. Ivins, a member of the first presidency of the Latter Day Saints church and one of the delegates to the Utah constitutional convention of 1895.

After the recess Franklin Ritter, chairman of the resolutions committee, will offer the ratification resolution and address the convention. Immediately afterwards the roll will be called, completing convention action on repeal.

EFFECTIVE TONIGHT

Washington, Dec. 5—(AP)—Tried almost 14 years, adjudged unconstitutional, prohibition ended tonight and the American people face curiously a new period of experimentation on how to handle liquor.

Only formal ratifications by conventions in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Utah were necessary to do away with the Eighteenth Amendment. As it stands, the Salt Lake City action—as the 36th state—will be over about 8:30 P. M. CST.

Automatically the twenty-first amendment takes effect, terminating Federal prohibition, permitting states to protect dry states from liquor importations, and leaving the states to deal as they see fit with strong drink and attendant difficulties.

39 States Voted

This reverse in national policy was dictated by a majority approaching ten million of more than twenty million votes cast since Congress submitted the question last February. Thirty-nine states housing 88 per cent of the population have voted.

Only two stood by the amendment about which such dispute has swirled in latter years, despite the high hopes held when all the states except Rhode Island, New Jersey and Connecticut ratified it in infancy. The two were the Carolinas.

But that today was history, something for the chroniclers along with the many fabulous features of the dry years since the war. Immediate interest centered in those three routine albeit ceremonious convention meetings which hold promise of legal liquor this evening. If the events take place as planned; in the President's proclamation that means tax relief January 1; in Washington and in state regulatory planning—and that's that.

Matter Not Settled

Just as the almost unanimous approval of the Eighteenth Amendment did not settle the matter once and for all, neither does the preponderant action on its rejection signal an end.

Controversy now smouldering will crackle into open argument when the Senate and House return to work on liquor taxes and attempt to get a model control law for the

HUEY'S COHORTS ROUTED BY ARMED LOUISIANANS

Are Forced To Cancel So-called Election in Three Parishes

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 5—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's political forces were put to rout by violently demonstrating citizens in three of the 12 parishes of the Sixth Congressional district today. They were forced to cancel the congressional election in those three parishes when the residents made a display of armed resistance to the proposed balloting.

Elsewhere in the district, the election was ordered to proceed, but balloting was very light as both state highway police and armed citizens stood near the polling booths, tallying those who came to vote.

The election was designed to send Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, Senator Long's candidate, to the vacant Sixth District Congress seat in a suddenly called election, without the holding of a party primary.

Citizens Armed

The parishes of Tangipahoa, home of Mrs. Kemp, Livingston and St. Helena in the eastern sector of the district, after a week of protesting demonstrations in which the Kemp ballots were seized and publicly burned, and Senator Long and other administration leaders were hanged and burned in effigy, turned out heavily armed today to prevent the balloting.

Lee Ponder, chairman of the Sixth Democratic Committee and Long's spokesman in the section, quickly announced the election had been called off in those parishes. Ponder said the cancellation was due to an injunction issued by Judge Nat. Tyler late yesterday. Similar injunctions issued elsewhere failed to stop the election.

Shots Exchanged

His announcement came after the polling places of the three parishes had remained closed long after opening time.

The "ballot box" in evidence in Tangipahoa was a garbage can set up on the main street of Hammond, prominently labeled "vote here if you want to."

Shots were exchanged last night at the Amite river bridge between 25 citizens and occupants of a truck, who they believed were bringing new ballots from Baton Rouge to replace those burned in the evening in Livingston parish. Windows were shot out of the truck but no one was injured. The truck escaped down a swamp trail.

Now Meat Cutters Are Talking Strike

Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen of North America said they would meet today to consider again a proposal for a nation-wide strike of packing house workers.

If the strike should become effective Dennis Lane, secretary of the union, said it would affect 25,000 workers in Chicago. A meeting yesterday of local unions affiliated with the amalgamated failed to reach an agreement.

Judge Refuses To Enjoin State Department From Issuing Repeal Proclamation After Utah's Vote

Washington, Dec. 5—(AP)—The effort to prevent issuance of the proclamation announcing ratification of the prohibition repeal amendment was rejected today by Justice F. Dickinson Letts of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Hearing the expected news, William Phillips, as Acting Secretary of State, prepared to go ahead with his plans to issue the proclamation as soon as he hears the Utah convention has acted as the 36th to ratify the Twenty-first Amendment.

VIOLA TOWN IS FIRST STARTING ON CWA PROJECT

Nachusa To Begin Its Work Tomorrow: Registration Decline

Viola township claims the distinction of having been the first township in Lee county to begin work under the Civil Works Administration program. A force of nine men taken from the relief and unemployed rolls began work this morning at 7:30, cutting brush, cleaning ditches and doing other work along the county and township highway system.

Nachusa township will be the second to launch its program, which includes the same type of work. A force of 15 men under the direction of Highway Commissioner Harry Weigle will start work Wednesday morning.

Brooklyn township expects to place a force of 23 men at work tomorrow morning. Highway Commissioner Leonard Davis and Supervisor John Fassig have outlined an extensive program of road improvement to be carried on until the middle of February.

Palmyra township with a force of 17 men and Nelson township with 12 men, expect to begin operations under the county projects Friday morning. By next Monday it is expected that practically every township in the county will be working forces of unemployed men on the various projects.

On City Projects

A force of 26 men on the unemployed rolls of Dixon were given employment this morning on the city projects which are progressing very satisfactorily. This number was divided in street car track removal, cleaning up the river bank and improving Oakwood cemetery.

At the county registration headquarters in the city council chambers, there was a very noticeable falling off in the number of applicants. The number of men reporting yesterday were registered last evening before the clerical force ceased its activities for the day. This morning the number of applicants was much smaller than on previous days and all applicants were registered by the noon hour.

Chief Registrar Tim Sullivan expects the registration to cease very soon. Four women applied at the registration headquarters yesterday and filed their applications for employment.

Excellent results are being obtained in all of the projects undertaken locally and the city officials are elated at the progress that is being made and the interest shown by the men who have been furnished employment under the program.

ANOTHER HALF TON OF CURED PORK FOR LEE

County's CWA Projects Approved by Federal Authority

Word was received at the Lee county Welfare headquarters here this morning that a consignment of 9,110 pounds of salt pork had been made to Lee county. The shipment is expected to arrive here Thursday or Friday and represents the second consignment of pork to be received in this county from the Federal Relief Administration for free distribution to the needy families of the various townships of the county.

Any who are on the relief rolls, whether working on the civil works program or unemployed, are entitled to receive this meat, it was stated at the local relief headquarters today.

Chairman D. H. Spencer of the County Emergency Relief committee today received official confirmation of the county project from Dr. Scott Bedford, federal director at Chicago. The project provides an estimate of $63,144.50 for labor and $12,724.00 for material for work to be carried on in every township in the county.

At the local headquarters today it was reported that a total of 424 men were on the pay roll for the various civil works projects throughout the county.

Delays Decision On Diversion Of Gas Tax To Relief

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5—(AP)—Circuit Judge L. E. Stone today postponed until tomorrow morning the announcement of his decision on the constitutionality of the diversion of gas tax revenues to unemployment relief.

The unsuccessful court action was brought by Canon William Chase of Brooklyn, New York, and George S. Duncan of this city, representing the International Reform Federation and other dry organizations. They contended the amendment had been illegally ratified in several of the states.

Justice Letts said there was no basis for the action sought and denied the petition for the reason that it would be futile to grant it, inasmuch as the amendment becomes effective upon ratification by the 36th state and not upon issuance of the proclamation.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis Missing Since He Left Capital On Friday

Associates Are Concerned As He Drops Out Of Sight

Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Associates of Senator James Hamilton Lewis were extremely concerned today to learn that he had not appeared for a scheduled address at Springfield, Mo., last night.

The senior Illinois Senator's law office here had not heard from him since he left Chicago last Wednesday night. From V. Y. Dallman of Springfield, Ill., it was learned that Senator Lewis left the Dallman residence Friday afternoon, supposedly for St. Louis.

Sensor Lewis did not arrive as scheduled at Springfield, Mo., yesterday morning. He gave no notice to cancel last night's address, and his office began an effort to trace him.

The Senator was scheduled for an address at Dallas, Tex., today.

FAILED TO ARRIVE

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 5—(AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois failed to arrive on a noon train from the north as scheduled today to address a Chamber of Commerce meeting tonight.

J. A. Hinton, conductor, who said he knew the Senator, said he was certain Lewis had not been on the train since it left St. Louis last night. Hinton was on the train when it passed through Springfield, Mo., and he said no trace of Lewis was found there. Lewis failed to appear for a speaking engagement in Springfield last night.

A reception committee from the Dallas Chamber went to the Highland Park station, in North Dallas, to meet the Senator in accordance with arrangements previously made. The committee had received no direct word from Lewis recently but had assumed he would arrive on the noon train.

HORNER CONCERNED

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5—(AP)—Governor Horner expressed concern today when informed that Senator James Hamilton Lewis could not be located.

The Governor said that he understood Lewis was going to Springfield, Mo., and Dallas, Tex., when he left here last week after a series of conferences.

The Senator checked out of his hotel Friday evening. He was traveling unaccompanied.

V. Y. Dallman, editor of the Illinois State Register and Collector of Internal Revenue, said Lewis had a bad cough and expressed the opinion that he might have stopped at some hotel to recuperate.

On Friday, Dallman said, Lewis told him he was going to speak in Missouri and some other states before returning to Illinois.

SENT NO WORD

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5—(AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis was scheduled to make a speech in behalf of the NRA here last night. He failed to appear and no word was received from him.

Plans for Lewis' appearance here were made by John T. Woodruff, local NRA chairman, with Louis J. Alber, Director of the NRA Speakers Bureau at Washington, and Terence Lewis' Secretary, Edward L. Miller, Chicago, wired G. L. Gaukel, Missouri NRA director, in St. Louis, that "the Senator is enroute to Springfield." A telegram from Miller to Lewis was delivered here last night.

SEC. NOT ADVISED

Washington, Dec. 5—(AP)—Wallace Streeter, secretary of Senator Lewis of Illinois, told reporters today at his office in the Capitol that he had not heard from Lewis directly for more than a week, but had been informed previously the Senator was due at Dallas, Texas, tonight, for an address.

Streeter said the Senator was due back in Chicago yesterday, and that although some mention had been made of him going to Springfield, Ill., nothing had been said about him making an address at Springfield, Mo.

New York Dancing Girl Suffers from Effects Of Beating

New York, Dec. 5—(AP)—Adele Gloria, once called "the girl with the most beautiful legs in the world," was suffering today from bruises and mouth abrasions, inflicted last night, she said, by a man she encountered on a vacant lot.

Police were investigating the story of the 32-year-old dancer, who said the encounter occurred as she was returning to her home in Bayside, Queens.

Apparently beaten, she was found by her brother, Albert Gloria, on the rear steps of her home.

The dancer two months ago filed a suit for $250,000 against a wealthy Cuban immigrant, Francis X. Xigues, charging he had attacked her.

Her family said that in the last few weeks she has received mysterious telephone calls.

Ohio has 13,000 service stations of which 8500 are owned by individuals.

LINDBERGH AND WIFE MAY TAKE TO AIR TONIGHT

Expected To Hop Off For South America About 6 O'clock

Bathurst, Gambia, Dec. 5—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh planned today to take off at midnight (6 P. M. C. S. T.) on a projected flight to South America, 1,900 miles away.

Col. Lindbergh chose that time for his departure because at that hour the winds are most favorable for a getaway.

A freshening breeze sprang up during the morning, giving promise that the flight, which has been delayed by a calm since Thursday, might proceed.

Prospects Good

Indications of good weather and the onset of the harmattan, a dry, hot desert wind blowing intermittently from the interior, made it appear likely that the couple might be enabled to escape a longer delay.

Their seaplane was overhauled and ready; extra fuel was jettisoned, and other flight conditions appeared satisfactory.

Lindbergh, however, remained tight-lipped concerning their next destination, but it was presumed it would be Brazil.

An almost dead calm had thwarted their efforts Sunday and Monday to get their red monoplane off the Gambia river for the nearly 1,900-mile journey to Brazil, but shortly before dawn this morning a fresh breeze was rising.

Murder Case Over Year Old Is Called In Tazewell Court

Pekin, Ill., Dec. 5—(AP)—The trial of John Petji, East Peoria, for the murder of Lew Neland more than a year ago was due to begin today in the Tazewell county Circuit Court.

The case, dating back to August, 1932, when the victim's body was found on railroad tracks near here, already has been the cause of one more death. Martin Virant, East Peoria, arrested for questioning, hanged himself in the county jail and two deputy sheriffs were exonerated of charges of having subjected him to third degree methods.

The state contends Neland's body was placed on the tracks after he had been slain.

Martin today received an $811,590 check from the Illinois Central Railroad as its semi-annual payment under its charter to the state for the six months ending Oct. 31. DIXON LIQUOR LICENSES HELD UP TILL 4 P. M.

Six Permits To Sell Hard Liquor are Granted By Council

Whiskey and other hard liquors will not be permitted in Dixon until at least several minutes after 4 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour six retail liquor dealers, whose applications for city permits were granted by the city council last evening, are to be in session with Commissioner Cal G. Tyler of the Department of Public Health and Safety at the city hall. No licenses were to be signed by the mayor until after this important session adjourned.

Commissioner Tyler stated last evening that he intended that no retail liquor dealer should be able to claim he did not understand certain clauses of the new hard liquor ordinance, and to make it clear to one and all, he would meet them this afternoon to explain the various provisions of the ordinance, so that no doubt could remain in the minds of any.

While Dixon was entrenched behind an ordinance, state and Federal rulings were still missing and there still remains much speculation about the sale of hard liquor. Mayor Dixon declared last evening

Local Dealers Do Not Anticipate Great Rush

Whiskey in Dixon will retail at between $1.50 and $2 per pint bottle it was announced by some of those who had applied for city liquor licenses today. There was little likelihood that any of the liquor would be on hand to be offered for sale before late Wednesday morning.

The above price applies to well known brands of blended whiskey and did not pertain to aged bonded liquors. For the most part the applicants for city licenses did not anticipate a rush of business when the liquor is received.

It was the general opinion that the liquor would not leave Chicago warehouses until after the state of Utah has taken final action regarding the 18th Amendment, and from other sources it was stated that deliveries made by truck, out of Chicago, would not be permitted after dark, and that all trucks would be protected by two armed guards.

At the police station it was reported that orders had been issued calling for three inspections daily of all places handling liquor each officer being instructed to inspect places on their respective beats.

that he would not affix his signature to a single license until he was satisfied in his own mind that the Eighteenth Amendment was no longer in effect in the United States.

Grand Opera at Central City Neb.

In a letter of recent date to a Dixon friend, Miss Anna E. Carpenter of Brooklyn, New York, where she is supervisor of art in the public schools, tells of her regret at not being able to stop for a visit with old Dixon friends on her return from the west this summer. Misses Anna and Edna Carpenter stopped briefly in Dixon on their way to the west to visit their sisters, Emma and Charlotte Carpenter. Miss Anna E. Carpenter painted pictures for two weeks at Estes Park, and three of her pictures are now on exhibition in New York. Then Misses Emma and Charlotte spent a week with their sisters in Denver, and Misses Anna and Edna found they could spend but a day in Dixon on their return and their hopes for that day were dashed because of a washout in Nebraska which held up their train so that they could barely keep their reservations for New York, made in Chicago.

While in Colorado Miss Carpenter speaks of a delightful experience when they attended grand opera in the old mining town of Central City, Colo. Miss Carpenter says—"It was a delightful and thrilling experience. The August Travel Magazine, October Readers Digest and some number of Time, all had quite interesting articles about it; but no single article could tell about the charm of it. Robert Edward Jones was in charge. Traffic police from Denver directed the traffic, which was diverted from the main street where the Opera House and the old Teller House, hotel are. People in evening dress thronged the streets. They came from Chicago, Denver, Colorado Springs, and place, thousands of them, to try to recapture the spirit of the old mining days. The stars were from the Metropolitan Opera Co. It was great! Etc.

Dixon Presbyterian Men Entertained by Sterling Church

About forty men of the Presbyterian church drove to Sterling on Monday evening in response to an invitation from the men of the Presbyterian church there. The members of the Sterling church provided the dinner which was served in the dining-room of their very spacious and splendidly equipped church building. The men of the Dixon church provided the program which began with all the men singing the four verses of "America" as they were led by W. M. Flamm. E. B. Raymond brought the "Greetings of the Dixon Men" in which he said much that was reminiscent, helpful and affectionate.

Everyone enjoyed greatly the soft cornet and trumpet, which followed. Bradley Moll spoke on "The Matter of Fellowship," and greatly pleased everyone as he told of certain of his own experiences and of the need of greater fellowship among the nations of the world. Mr. Flamm sang two selections which everyone voted most excellent. Dr. Young, who took the place of W. H. Coppins, who was ill and could not be present, spoke a closing word of appreciation of the evening and of the need of the church as the center of all real fellowship. The program closed with one verse of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." Louis Leydig accompanied all the music of the evening.

FREE DEBATE ASSURES THE BEST SOLUTION.

The heated discussion that has arisen over the administration's gold policy is a most encouraging sign to all lovers of freedom of speech and of the press. Whatever one's opinions in the matter, it cannot be denied that the opposition is getting its full share of the debate.

But even more satisfying than this is the feeling that such open discussion of the country's most conflicting problem is certain to bring about a saner and more effective solution than would consideration of the difficulty from one side alone.

Both the sound money advocates and the so-called inflationists have strong reasons to stand their ground. Each has rallied to its side the arguments of professors of economics and other experts to prove it right.

And each has no ulterior motive back of its assertions other than the belief that its way out of the present depression is the best.

Difference between the sound money men and the inflationists lies in the difference between a strict adherence to the economic phase of the gold problem and a consideration of its political significance as well.

For there is no doubt that politics, in the broader, humanitarian sense, has much to do with this matter.

While Wall Street looks upon the subject from a cold, matter of fact, dollars and cents viewpoint, President Roosevelt is forced to consider it not only in that light, but from the angle of the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker.

This is the politics of the whole matter. And this complicates the problem much more for the president than it does for the eastern financiers and economists.

Perhaps, if the sound money men had not risen up in their might and raised the howl they have, the administration might have overlooked the more conservative phase of this discussion.

Perhaps, if Al Smith and Bernard Baruch and other sincere antagonists of the president's policy had approved blindly of his every move, we might have found ourselves sailing fast toward actual inflation and its accompanying dangers.

So it is much better, then, that a voice has been raised against the government's gold policy, if only to keep those in control from running amuck.

ANOTHER LOW GRAFT.

No matter how worthy the cause, or how high its aims, always there is someone who would turn it to his benefit for ill-gotten gains.

The Public Works Administration is dispensing millions of dollars to finance projects in all parts of the nation, giving employment to thousands. One naturally would think that all classes of citizens would unite back of such endeavor, unselfishly and wholeheartedly.

But no! Back of the scenes, even here, the slimy head of the racketeer is upraised.

"The easiest money in Washington is being collected today by lawyers, agents, lobbyists and politicians, supposed to have influence with the Public Works Administration," says Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, who administers this fund. "They collect large sums as retainers and fees, on the claim that they can get favorable consideration for municipal and state projects."

"Such influence does not exist. Gullible applicants merely are swindled out of their money." And, Mr. Ickes adds, persons employing such "fixers" are likely to cast suspicion on their projects, which otherwise might win favorable consideration.

THE BOYS FIRST.

An intense local rivalry exists between the football partisans of the University of Michigan and Ohio State. And even though Ohio State went through its 1933 schedule with only one defeat, certain factions among the alumni deem the year a failure because that defeat was administered by Michigan.

A storm of criticism roared about the ears of Coach Sam Willaman of Ohio State. It was shouted that his coaching methods had been inefficient.

Coach Willaman replied: "The boy comes first, the school second, the public third. When I took the coaching job, I promised only that my methods would be beyond reproach, that I would throw my whole heart and soul into it, because my efforts would be for my own university, and that the team would win its share of games."

Willaman's record at Ohio State is splendid. In the last two years his teams have lost only two games. But it is just too bad that both of those games were won by Michigan.

The toy man flew his plane near by the Tynmites, and they heard him cry, "Our trip is almost over. Santa Land is just ahead."

"Your rubber bird will circle 'round, and then float right down to the ground," "Oh, goody, goody! I can hardly wait," we Dotty said.

"You'll have to wait," laughed Duncy. "Gee, a great big gate I no can see. A sign on it reads 'Santa Land!' Our fun's about to start."

"I'm positive that Santa Claus will welcome all of us because we're going to help him with his work. We'll gladly do our part."

"You bet we will," yelled Scouty. "I am one lad who is glad to try most anything, regardless of how hard the task may be."

"Oh, Santa's good to everyone, so helping him will be real fun. I have been here before. I hope that he remembers me."

And then they landed, safe and sound. The Tynmites all looked around and Windy said, "Oh, see the Wooden Soldiers at the door!" Then to the toy man he cried out, "A password's needed here, no doubt." "Why, sure," replied the man. "That's what the soldiers are there for."

"What ho!" one soldier loudly cried. "If you folks want to get inside, you'll have to tell us who you are. This is a private place!"

"Oh, Santa's getting things in trim for Christmas. You can't bother him." "They won't," replied the toy man, with a broad smile on his face.

"Don't you two guards remember me? I'm Santa's right hand man, you see, and I have brought these Tynmites here. They're going to lend a hand."

"Hurrah for you!" one guard replied. "We'll gladly let you go inside, so you can help to get all of the things done that are planned. (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)"

SAFE VACCINATION

Since the days when Jenner proved that vaccination with cowpox will protect an individual against smallpox, medicine has struggled to secure vaccine virus in a pure form.

The vaccine employed to immunize smallpox is a living agent, belonging to the virus class.

Viruses can be cultured or grown only in living tissues. Germs, on the contrary, can be cultivated or grown in such substances as gelatin, clotting blood and potatoes.

Vaccine for smallpox is made by subjecting calves to cowpox. The calves develop pustules, and from these we get the vaccine used against smallpox.

However, the matter collected from the calf must be subjected to much chemical and biological refinement, costing much labor and money. Furthermore, the vaccine must be watched constantly to see that it is not invaded by other bacteria.

In recent times an interesting process has been developed for producing smallpox vaccine completely free of foreign bacteria. Since the virus of smallpox will not grow in any other but living tissue, instead of employing calves, in this newer technique hatching eggs are used to produce the vaccine.

Chicken eggs which have been fertilized and incubated for about 10 days are selected. The outer shell is drilled through so as to produce a minute hole. Through this opening a small quantity of the virus of smallpox is introduced. The hole is sealed with wax.

After several days the eggs are opened and the embryo or developing body of the chick and its attached membranes are extracted.

In the membranes attached to the developing chick is found the increased and multiplied smallpox virus. This is then treated, purified and prepared for human use.

The vaccine so produced has

LABORATORY TESTS CHECK EFFICACY OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Show Why This Delicious Cereal Overcomes Common Constipation

There are scientific reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN in preventing and relieving common constipation. Laboratory investigations show that it supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines; and vitamin B to provide appetite, and help tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements aid regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming! Just eat two tablespoonsfuls of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Postmaster John E. Moyer Asks You

Do you know that each year 21,000,000 letters go to the Dead Letter Office, because they do not bear a return address, and many of that number contain money, and signed merely, mother, grandma, or some given name, hence cannot even be returned to the sender? This might be prevented if the address of the sender was written in full.

Are you one of that number, and do you want your private correspondence read by strangers? If not, then prevent your letters from going to the Dead Letter Office, by placing your return address on all mail.

There are also thousands of parcels lost and undeliverable each year. In the first instance loss can be prevented by insuring all parcels of value. In the second instance undeliverable might be due to wrapper or cover being lost en transit, and in that case if the sender's return address as well as address of addressee were included in the parcel, delivery might be effected.

According to the present government regulations, the Veterans Administration does not provide necessary articles of clothing for veterans, and we therefore feel that it is our obligation to provide these disabled needy veterans with necessary wearing apparel when they are unable to purchase such articles for themselves because of illness and unemployment.

We have a disabled veteran at this hospital who handles the clothing that is voluntarily donated for this purpose, and he informs me that the demand is quite urgent at present.

We are dependent upon the members of our organization for co-operation to continue this work and I am therefore writing to you hoping that you may have articles to contribute that would be suitable for distribution to these needy veterans.

If so, it would be greatly appreciated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the disabled men confined to this hospital, if you have any articles to donate that you have them shipped direct to the hospital in care of Mr. C. P. Millos, Room C-121, Veterans Administration Hospital, Hines, Ill., who has charge of the distribution of the clothing. Even though the articles may need repairs, send them, as this can be taken care of by the organization before the clothing is given to the veteran.

The Wynekoops in Happier Days

The flight of time has brought stark tragedy to this group which posed so happily in 1912. SWANSON MAKES PLEAS FOR NAVY SECOND TO NONE

Suggests U. S. Abandon Leadership In Disarmament Moves

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Secretary Swanson today sought opportunity for conversations with President Roosevelt in furtherance of pleas contained in his annual report for an American Navy second to none and an abandonment by the United States of its "lead disarmament."

The Navy Secretary also studied reaction from aboard to his frank suggestions. First reports from London indicated little stir over his statement, while from Tokyo came word that Japan was dissatisfied with its small end of the 5-5-3 ratio.

In submitting his annual naval activities report to the President Swanson remarked that this country's disarmament moves since the World War had set an example for the rest of the world, but had impaired America's relative naval strength.

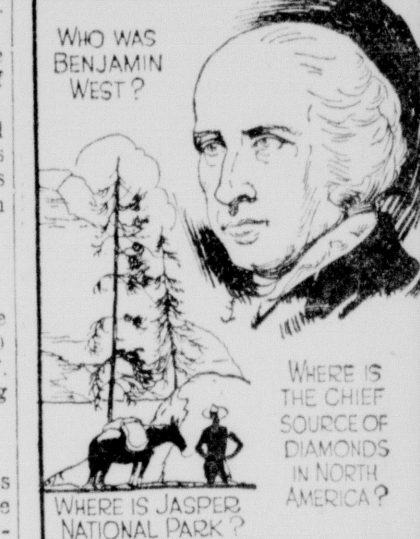

Example Not Followed

"The time has come, however, when we can no longer afford to lead in disarmament by example," he said. "Other powers have not followed our example. x x x Our weakened position does not serve the cause of peace."

"It jeopardizes it, because balanced armament fortifies diplomacy and is an important element in preserving peace and justice, whereas undue weakness invites aggressive, war-breeding violation of one's rights."

To maintain a Navy at full treaty strength, the Secretary urged adoption of a progressive building program, providing construction of a specified number of vessels each year and allowing for replacement of over-age ships.

3—about Cigarettes

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand

Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

BY the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by ageing the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.

Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.

And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.

Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.

In a letter to us, an eminent scientist says:

"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink."

Chesterfield cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink

STATE WITHOUT LIQUOR LAW AS REPEAL ARRIVES

First Time Since 1819 Illinois Has Had No Liquor Code

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5.—(AP)—As prohibition ended today, Illinois was without a liquor law for the first time since 1819.

The state prohibitory and enforcement statutes were repealed in March and the coming of repeal found a special legislative session struggling to enact a control system.

It was nearly 115 years ago that the General Assembly first provided for the licensing and regulation of the sale of liquor. Legal restrictions were gradually strengthened during the century preceding prohibition.

The confused regulatory system today is as follows:

No state law can be enacted before Friday at the earliest.

The state beer law is still in effect, although it is inoperative on beverages of an alcoholic content of more than 3.2 per cent.

Chicago and numerous downstate cities have passed liquor ordinances, some of which are not yet effective, to regulate and tax sale of spirits.

County authorities are powerless to act in unincorporated territory.

Question Legality

The legality of the city ordinances and the status of some old laws are disputed questions.

A few dry communities were ready to establish some form of local option under old statutes and forbid the sale of hard liquor.

Approximately half of Illinois was dry at the advent of prohibition in 1819. Of the 102 counties, 55 had local option.

The law at that time provided for local option on a township, precinct, city or village basis, with a vote to be held at the regular elections upon petitions signed by a fourth of the electorate.

In local option territory it was illegal to sell or take orders for any distilled, spirituous, fermented, vinous or malt liquors, although druggists could get permits to sell for medicinal use only. Violators could be prosecuted as public nuisances.

Pre-Prohibition Law

Sale of liquor was prohibited in 1819 in the vicinity of state institutions and on Sundays. Outside of cities and villages, county boards could grant licenses only upon a petition of a majority of the legal voters in the township.

Cities and villages had power to regulate liquor, although no license could be issued in local option territory.

The pre-prohibition law also specified that an intoxicated person must pay for personal and property damages and contained other provisions designed to make the seller of liquor equally responsible with the purchaser for damages.

Illinois' first liquor law, effective February 27, 1819, required a $12 annual license for tavern keepers, to be issued by the county commissioners. It was under this statute that a license was issued a hundred years ago last March to Abraham Lincoln and William F. Berry, who were partners in a tavern at New Salem.

MARY CHRISTMAS WILL ACCOMPANY SANTA TO DIXON

Is One Of His Best Loved Helpers On All His Trips

In addition to his team of eight Alaskan wolf hounds Santa Claus will have a most astounding array of beautiful and interesting features with him to take part in the magnificent pageant parade which he will stage when he arrives for his pre-Christmas visit in Dixon next Tuesday.

Riding in Santa's parade in an open automobile, will be Miss Mary Christmas, one of Santa's best loved helpers. Living up to her own and Santa's reputations for providing happiness, Miss Mary will have her automobile filled with countless gas-inflated, toy animal balloons. There will be elephants, lions, tigers, mules, bears and dogs in fact just about every sort of animal imaginable.

Miss Mary will release one of these animals each second as she rides in Santa's parade. To give a more definite idea of the number she will release 300 of the balloons will soar into the air in five minutes time. They will rise aloft and float over the festive crowd before coming to earth again.

Counsel With Santa

Miss Mary Christmas has come to be known in many cities almost as well as old Saint Nicholas himself. It is Mary who counsels with Santa regarding many interesting gifts for girls and boys. Miss Mary quite naturally, is more interested and gives more attention to designing and suggesting gifts for little girls. It is for this reason that she has become famous and beloved.

Old people also particularly love Miss Mary and many of them for this reason will be on hand to welcome both her and Santa and to receive her kisses which always are thrown liberally to the crowd.

Miss Mary, of course, is very young, yet old enough to know the joys and pains of life. Her temperate youth and understanding gives her an intimate appreciation of the wants of little children as well as the desires of those somewhat older.

Miss Mary has a bright face which smiles out from beneath a brow kissed with lovely locks and she wins the hearts of all who know her for she has found the appeal of eternal youth in thinking only of the goodness of people and doing kind things for others.

DIXON LIQUOR LICENSES HELD UP TILL 4 P. M.

ning, by amending the present malt and vinous beverage ordinance, reduced the restrictions concerning beer. The amendment provides that the term malt and vinous beverages, shall in the future mean all beer, lager beer, ale and similar fermented beverages. It is unlawful to consume any of these in any public park or on any public highway. The provision which originally limited the alcoholic content not to exceed 3.2 is eliminated the amended ordinance and there is now no limit.

It is the council's intention, through the passage of this amended ordinance, to popularize beer and make possible a five cent glass or beer," one member of the council explained in commenting upon the amended ordinance.

The license fee required under the original beer ordinance of $30 per year, is reduced to $20, which is payable semi-annually. The wholesale license fee remains at $50 yearly.

Six Seek Licenses

Six applications were submitted to the council for permits to retail liquor as follows: George Aschenbrenner, Charles Bohlken, Arthur Miller, Leo Curran, William James and Scott Hull. None of the applications was rejected and on motion of Commissioner Tyler the license were granted by the unanimous vote of the council.

Commissioner Tyler in voting for the granting of the licenses said:

"There has been a certain amount of laxity in the selling of intoxicating liquors since the return of beer. By this ordinance it is understood that its every provision will be enforced to the letter and the police department has been so instructed. The licenses will not be granted until the dealers have seen me personally, at which time there will be a general understanding of the provisions of the ordinance. With respect to the drinking of liquor upon the premises where it is sold, I intend that this provision shall be rigidly enforced. The streets of Dixon will be kept in the same orderly condition as in the past and the police department has been so instructed. By the provisions of this ordinance I believe that the liquor sales in Dixon can be successfully handled."

Mayor Dixon added that he would not affix his signature to any of the licenses until after the close of the meeting and not until such time as he was satisfied that the Eighteenth Amendment was no longer in existence. He continued by stating that the present liquor ordinance may be subject to amendment within a very short time, but that only by a fair trial could the council be able to determine what changes were necessary. Under all conditions, he stated, the council and police department were determined to keep an orderly city to the practice of dumping ashes, garbage and other rubbish and debris in the storm water ditch running through the city which is now being cleaned at an expense of about $3,000 to the city. He urged some action whereby this practice could be abolished at once.

Brazil First Discovered in Year 1500 by Pinzon

Following the discovery by Columbus of what was thought to be a part of India, the Spanish sovereigns applied to Pope Alexander VI, who was recognized as the arbiter of international disputes, for a decree which would entitle them to share in any lands discovered in the westward search for India. Prior to the time of Columbus, westward exploration had been almost entirely under the auspices of the king of Portugal.

Alexander VI issued a decree in which all the undiscovered regions of the world were divided between Spain and Portugal at a line fixed by the Treaty of Tordesillas in 1494 at 370 leagues west of the Cape Verde Islands, and Spain was given full power to colonize discoveries west of this line while Portugal was limited to lands east of the line.

Contrary to all expectations, Portugal was very nearly deprived of any part of America, as all of the western hemisphere except a part of the coast of Brazil lay beyond the "line of demarcation."

What later became Brazil was first discovered in 1500 by Vicente Yanez Pinzon, a companion of Columbus on an early voyage, and was reached in 1501 by Pedro Alvarez Cabral. The latter touched the coast on Good Friday and took over the region in the name of the king of Portugal on Easter Sunday.

It is estimated that airplanes are carrying more than a quarter of a ton of diamonds from the Kasia fields in the Belgian Congo annually.

COLUMBIA TEAM MEETS STANFORD NEW YEAR'S DAY

Selection of New York City Eleven Meets Some Disapproval

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 5—(AP)—For the first time in the 18 years of the annual rose fiesta, a New York City football team will parade its prowess in the garland-festooned stadium New Year's Day.

Columbia University made it possible by accepting Stanford's invitation to participate in the intersectional gridiron classic Jan. 1, 1934.

There was little surprise over the announcement made here yesterday by Al Masters, Graduate Manager of Stanford. The report that Coach Lou Little's Lions had been invited last week leaked out 24 hours before the acceptance statement was released.

There was, however, more than the usual expression of local dissatisfaction over the team selected, born of the fact that only one of nine eastern teams to participate in the annual festival of football ever went home victorious. Two of the other eight games ended in ties.

Favored Midwest

Southern California, predominantly of midwestern extraction, voiced an opinion that a team from the prairie states might have been more acceptable, especially since only two representatives from that region ever made an appearance. The west won one of these and lost the other.

The south had its say too, for it alone holds the edge over the Pacific coast defenders with three victories, one defeat and a tie. Stanford and Columbia have something in common in this situation, however, because the Rose Tournament committee's choice of Coach Tiny Thornhill's stalwarts was not given universal approval.

Stanford wanted Princeton but the Tigers couldn't come. Neither could Michigan, unofficially understood to be one of the favored teams. Army, Duke, Navy and Nebraska also were mentioned as possible opponents. Then Columbia was invited.

Neither Unbeaten

As in the case of Columbia, which lost one game this season—a 9 to 0 defeat by Princeton—Stanford's state was not clean. The Indians were held to a scoreless tie by Northwestern and were defeated by Washington, 6 to 0.

Built around a group of big fast sophomores, the Stanford team stepped into the Rose Bowl picture by defeating Southern California 3 to 7 and went on to win the selection by its 7 to 3 triumph over its arch rival, California.

While Bobby Grayson, a fleet 67-pound fullback who calls the signals, is the running and passing star, the blocking of Robert (Bones) Hamilton, a halfback from Lewistown, Pa., the quick kicking of Frank Alustiza, first year quarterback; the sterling end play of James (Monk) Moscrip from Medina, Ohio, and the accurate field goal kicking of All-American Bill Corbus, captain and guard, went a long way toward putting Stanford into the annual holiday game.

Coach Tiny Thornhill said practice would be resumed at Palo Alto this week. He also planned to collect information in Columbia's camp.

were starting the season all over again."

Started New Blood

Little felt some of the seniors had lost their edge. He has to work with one good first team. Reserves are few and inferior. But he started injecting new blood.

Bill Nevel, a 175-pound defensive back who hasn't carried the ball all season, went in at fullback. He blocks and nearly tears legs off with his tackles. Al Barabas, 190 pounds of sophomore and the fastest man on the squad, went to left half, the bucking post. Ed Brominski, 172-pound right half-back, a shifty runner and pass receiver, stayed at right half with Cliff Montgomery, only 158 pounds but a brilliant fellow who does everything, sticking to his job at quarterback.

The right side of the line was reorganized. Al Clampa, 177-pound junior, took the center job and two sophomores, Larry Pinckney, a 190-pounder, at guard, and Paul Jackel, 185 pounds, at tackle, respectively. Owen McDowell, basketball captain weighing 177 pounds, became the regular right end. The team started going places.

A Destructive End

"For three years," says Little, "I've been trying to get Tony Matelli to play left end the way he can. He played good ball but not the kind he could. For no reason I could see he suddenly caught on fire. Today that 185 pounds of red-head is the most destructive end I've ever seen."

They thrashed Penn State, 33-0 with the fourth quarter cut to six minutes to save further damage. They beat Cornell, 9 to 6 after penalized 70 yards in the first period alone. They beat Navy 14 to 7 and "Rip" Miller said of the Lions then, "they're better than Pitts-burgh. I know. They both beat us."

Little took his first string backs out 28 seconds before the end of the first half and Fred Borries promptly ran 76 yards for Navy's only score. Navy made three first downs all afternoon.

Hitting with terrific power, the Lions swamped Lafayette, the team that tied Colgate, 46-6 in the final game they beat Syracuse 16-0. Syracuse made two first downs, gained 14 yards from scrimmage and got past midfield once—to Columbia's 47-yard line.

At the end of the season it was travelling at top speed, a polished stylish, hard-tackling, beautifully clicking team. It's a picturesque outfit in light blue and white. The outstanding stars are Montgomery and Barabas in the backfield, and red-headed Matelli at end.

And for what it is today, Princeton gets an assist.

Stench Bomb Routes 150 Theater Patrons

Chicago—Some set off a stench bomb in the Chicago Theater routing about 150 men and women. Raymond Bruder, manager of the place, told police the theater had no labor troubles and that the attack was a mystery so far as he was concerned.

PRINCETON GETS ASSIST

New York, Dec. 5—(AP)—It took a workmanlike pasting from the militant sophomores of Princeton to make a Rose Bowl company out of the Columbia Lions.

"If they wouldn't go themselves, they did the next best thing," quipped Head Coach Lou Little. They made a football team that is out of my fellows."

And so Princeton's handwork, a Columbia team that came roaring out of defeat to recognize in October and sweep through the remainder of the season undefeated, will have here Dec. 19 for the New Year's battle with Stanford in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, thinking and thoughts of Old Nassau for the first time this year.

There is a story within a story in the 20 to 0 licking Columbia absorbed Oct. 21 from a Princeton team that finished its season unbeaten and untied and then fore-called any invitation to the Rose Bowl by announcing the Tiger policy against post-season games still as in effect. There were ten seniors in Columbia's lineup that day. Most of them had played through 10 straight victories over the Tigers.

CHUCK KLEIN'S PROWESS SHOWN BY THE FIGURES

Cubs' New Outfielder Topped All Rivals In Four Things

New York, Dec. 5—(AP)—If there's any doubt about the wisdom of the Chicago Cubs in adding Charles H. (Chuck) Klein to their lineup for 1934, a glance at the official National League averages for last season should remove it.

Klein not only won the batting championship with an average of .368, but topped all rivals in four other departments of play as he carried his sensational slugging achievements through the fifth successive year. During that period, he never has made fewer than 200 hits, scored less than 100 runs or hit less than 337.

The great outfielder, traded to the Cubs by the Phillies in the most important of the off-season deals, led his closest rival and teammate, Virgil Davis, by 19 points in the batting race. Davis, who since has been traded to the St. Louis Cardinals, wound up with a mark of .349.

Hit Other "Titles"

Klein's other "titles" came in base hits where he had 223 against 200 for Chick Fullis of the Phillies; in total bases, with 365 against 299 for Wally Berger of the Boston Braves; in doubles with 44, against 40 to Joe Medwick of the Cardinals; and in home runs with 28, Berger finishing second with 27.

Back of Klein and Davis in the batting parade trailed Riggs Stephenson of the Cubs in third place with a .329 average; Tony Piet of Pittsburgh, traded recently to the Cincinnati Reds, with .323; Bill Terry, manager of the world champion New York Giants, .322; Wes Schulmerich of the Phillies, .318; John L. (Pepper) Martin of the Cardinals, .316; and Floyd Vaughan, Pirates, .314.

Martin's Record

Martin picked up two of the individual championships, with 122 runs and 26 stolen bases, while Fullis was at bat the most times, 647, and collected the most singles, 162. Vaughan hit the most triples, 19, while Dick Bartell of the Phillies had the most sacrifices, 37, for the second successive year.

Klein and Paul Waner of the Pirates were second to Martin in runs with 101 and Waner finished runner-up to Vaughan for triples with 16. Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cardinals, was Martin's closest rival as a base-stealer, pilfering 18.

Klein's durability also was proved by the fact that he was one of five players who took part in every one of their club's games. The others were Bartell of the Phillies, and Paul Waner, Harold (Pie) Traynor and Gus Suhr, all of the Pirates.

BEARS MUST DEFEAT PACKERS IN SUNDAY'S FIGHT

Victory Will Insure Championship Game At Wrigley Fld.

Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Whether the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears meet in the National Professional Football League play-off in New York or Chicago December 17, depends on the outcome of the Bears' battle with the Green Bay Packers next Sunday.

President Joseph P. Carr of the pro league has notified George Halas, president and coach of the Bears, that the team finishing with the best percentage will be given the choice of playing sites. The Giants have won ten games and lost three, while the Bears have won nine, lost two and tied one. A victory or a tie with the Packers would give the Bears the edge, a Green Bay victory, however, would give the Giants the better standing and choice at fields.

They will be out to thump the Packers, in order to meet the Giants at Wrigley Field. The Giants have not lost a game at home, while the Bears have not lost a game on their home field.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world wrestling champ according to the New York State Athletic Commission, retained his title in a bout against Roy Steele.

Five Years Ago Today—Dale Alexander and John Prudhomme were sold to the Detroit Tigers by the Toronto Maple Leafs for $100,000 and three players.

Ten Years Ago Today—Pancho Villa, world flyweight champ, knocked out Donnie Mack, Toronto bantamweight, in the fourth of their 10-round bout at Toronto.

Use of Liquor by U. I. Students Is "Personal Matter"

Urbana—The liquor committee of the University of Illinois recommended that the use of liquor by students, fraternities, and societies be made a matter of "personal accountability." It also recommended repeal of a law designated to prevent the sale of liquor within four miles of the school, holding that it was conducive to bootlegging.

Manhattan Is Somewhat Irked By Utah's Action

New York, Dec. 5—(AP)—Manhattan is somewhat irked at the manner in which Utah wants to administer the coup de grace to prohibition.

It's a fine thing per se, the consensus is among hotel and night club operators, but the western state's decision to make a dramatic gesture of ratifying repeal by postponing its action until tonight is going to cause a few difficulties.

The big town rather planned on beginning some decorous, refined, leisurely imbibing some time in the afternoon. But now it must wait.

"What is wanted is a good cocktail, sanctified by law—not oratory," commented J. J. Atkinson, manager of the St. Regis hotel. "Preparations have been made to usher in liquor around the cocktail hour. I think I speak for many of Manhattan's hosts when I say it's too bad Utah won't fire the starting gun a little sooner."

Another hotel manager was inclined to be philosophical about the matter.

"It's a little inconvenient," he said, "but after 14 years, what's another hour or two?"

And so, a little ironically, the speak-easies here may sound their own threnodies in the click of busy cash registers.

OVER THIRD OF RFC LOAN PAID BY DAWES BANK

Senate Committee Is Given Information by Corporation

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—Responding to an inquiry of the Senate Banking committee, the Reconstruction Corporation has notified Chairman Fletcher that collections of $30,126,362 have been made on the corporation's $90,000,000 loan to the Central Republic Bank & Trust Company of Chicago, headed by former Vice President Charles G. Dawes.

In a letter to the committee after it had asked for an itemized list of collateral, Chairman Jones of the corporation said $62,157,596.95 of the loan remains unpaid and that the collections thus far, include $2,283,958.95 in interest. The committee was informed that it will take some time to make up a list of the collateral as there are over 7,000 items now held in the Federal Reserve Bank at Chicago as security for the loan.

Officials of the Reconstruction Corporation refused to comment on the loan. Chairman Jones, when asked about the possibility of collection, would say only that the corporation never discusses individual loans.

Special Cops Get Into Argument as To Beats: One Dead

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 5—(AP)—A quarrel between two rival special police officers over the territory they were guarding ended Sunday in the death of William R. Stricklin, 63.

The other officer, Harry L. Michael, 59, was arrested after he telephoned city police that "he had trouble with another watchman and thought he was dead."

Stricklin was found dead in an alley from two revolver wounds. Michael was held today at police headquarters. He was wounded on the face, and said Stricklin struck him after ordering him to stay out of his (Stricklin's) beat.

Both men are paid by merchants in adjoining areas to guard stores and other property at night.

W. F. PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

By the time this letter reaches you it's going to be time for you to sell the poultry you intend to market for Christmas. And I don't mean sometime next week, but RIGHT AWAY—within the next day or two.

The reason for the rush, of course, is that Thanksgiving was very late this year and the Christmas market is coming almost on top of it.

A lot of poultry was sold for Thanksgiving. The price of turkeys was 3 to 4 cents lower than last year. This was disappointing, of course, to you people who had them to sell. But it was the chief reason for the large number of turkeys which were bought.

The price had been low all month and restaurants, hotels, and housewives had been attracted by it. So by the time the holiday arrived they were all very much in the notion of buying turkey.

Sell Poultry for Christmas Now
As I have explained before, dressing, packing, and shipping poultry, and distributing it to stores, restaurants, and hotels, requires about three weeks.

So for you a holiday market comes three weeks before the holiday. Poultry sold later than that, after the heavy demand is over, is a New York produce merchant saying that two million pounds of turkeys had to be put in storage because they arrived on the market after the buying was over. So you can see how important it is to sell your birds in plenty of time.

Christmas usually proves to be the last good market of the season. So I hope you will take advantage of it and sell all the poultry you can. My advice would be to sell every spring chicken you have left, except those that aren't up to 4 pounds.

If you keep them any longer you are taking a big risk, because there is too much chance of their becoming starchy. And starchy turkeys are worth only about half as much as soft-meated chickens, no matter what the market is.

If you take them to town within the next day or two you will still get them in on the Christmas market.

Sincerely yours,
W. F. Priebe

It is expected that a series of meetings will be held by the Farm Adviser covering the whole county soon after the first of December at which the plan will be explained in detail and questions answered as far as possible. In the meantime farmers are asked to be patient as there is not much definite information to be given, aside from what has been published in the papers, until the details of the plan are worked out and authority given by the administration to proceed.

Mr. Warren states that notice will be given through the mail and in the newspapers when and where meetings will be held. He has also received word from the Agricultural Extension Service that forms for corn loans have been printed and will probably be available at the Farm Bureau Office and banks throughout the county in about a week. It is probable that the same committee will be used for approving corn loans that was appointed for the corn sealing work two years ago.

Water is the cheapest feed that can be offered to poultry. Water is a feed and should be considered as that by poultrymen, because it is needed for body maintenance and egg production.

Both the hen's body and the whole egg contain about sixty-five per cent of water, and this percentage does not vary. With this fact in mind it can easily be seen that a shortage of water supply to a laying flock must naturally reflect itself in a lessening of egg production and possibly the egg size.

It takes a lot of water to satisfy the needs of poultry. One laying pullet will consume about one-third of a pint or one-third of a pound of water per day. This means that at least four gallons of water will be consumed by one hundred birds each day, or six tons in one year. Giving consideration to evaporation and wastage, it will be wise to provide water capacity for at least five gallons for each one hundred laying birds.

Water consumption should be encouraged and the flock management so planned that it will be clean, palatable, and always easily available.

In cold weather this may be difficult to do. Electric heaters are practical and the cost will be reflected in egg production. If artificial heat is not available, water with the chill removed should be put into the laying pens as often as it shows a tendency to freeze. Hens will not consume ice and they do not like cold water in the winter time.

Selling water in an egg shell is a profitable proposition and the poultry keeper should not allow anything in his management program to prevent his seeing that the laying birds drink all the water they desire.

Mr. Riley has very successfully operated a poultry farm for ten years, carrying from 1500 to 2000 laying hens and brooding 4000 to 5000 chicks each year, thus proving himself to be a practical business man. He operated one of the largest, trapping and breeding establishments in Indiana, and has made excellent records in egg laying contests.

The meeting is free and the public is invited.

Ogle Co. Farm Bureau Affairs

First steps towards putting the government's corn-hog program into effect in Ogle county are now being taken with the building up of a mailing list of all corn and hog growers, it is announced by Farm Adviser D. E. Warren. This roundup of the names of corn and hog producers of the county will include all those who raise four or more litters a year and ten or more acres of corn a year.

This mailing list will be used in sending out notices of corn-hog adjustment meetings, details of the plan and other official matter, it was announced.

Arrangements have been made from Washington whereby rural mail carriers will cooperate in compiling the mailing list. They will leave each farmer an envelope in which he will return the information needed to complete the list. Directors in each school tax or assessors' books and elevator managers in each community also may be used in compiling the list, it was announced.

Final details of the corn-hog plan are now being worked out in Washington and are expected to be ready soon for announcement in this county, according to Farm Adviser Warren. Farmers will be asked to reduce their corn acreage 20 per cent from what it was in the base period. They also will be asked to reduce by 25 per cent the number of litters farrowed and the number of pigs marketed during the base period.

Every corn and hog grower in the county is eligible to participate in the plan.

It is expected that a series of meetings will be held by the Farm Adviser covering the whole county soon after the first of December at which the plan will be explained in detail and questions answered as far as possible. In the meantime farmers are asked to be patient as there is not much definite information to be given, aside from what has been published in the papers, until the details of the plan are worked out and authority given by the administration to proceed.
